STRINGENT ALIEN REGULATIONS IN AUSTRALIA

(By Associated Press)
Sydney, Australia, Nov. 28.—A regulation has been promulgated by the federal government against alien neutrals working on ships and wharves anywhere in Australia. The regulation is the result of recent revelations. An inquiry into the recent fire on a large vessel in Sydney harbor, for instance, showed that there had been deliberate tampering in the hold and placing of combustibles at the bottom of the vessel. A seaman who was recently arrested was found in possession of explosive detonators, and fuses, and some letters relating to explosives on ships were found in his baggage.

(By Associated Press)
Petrograd, Nov. 27.—An official announcement at the headquarters of the Bolsheviks today, states that representatives of Ensign Krylenko, the Bolshevik commander-in-chief, have crossed the German side and have entered into negotiations with the German military authorities.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 27.—The American government and the Entente Allies will determine as soon as possible whether or not the Bolsheviks are to be classed as allies of Germany. This action will be determined as soon as advice can be obtained from the conference between the German and Bolshevik leaders.

Yesterday's dispatches more than contained proof that those who have contended from the first that Bolshevik followers were being fostered by German propaganda were right. The propaganda was intended for the purpose of breaking Russia from the allies.

First of all it will be for the American government and the Entente powers to determine whether or not the Bolsheviks are actually working with the Germans.

If it is learned that this is actually taking place it will mean the withdrawal of all embassies from Petrograd, American Ambassador Francis B. Saypol included.

No official reports were made at this date as to whether or not the United States will stop the shipments of supplies to Russia, this will probably not be done until certain determinations are made.

It is apparent that none of the immense quantities of supplies contracted for are on the way or landed in ports in Russia preparatory to falling into the hands of the Germans through the Bolsheviks.

Petrograd, Nov. 27.—Representatives sent by Ensign Krylenko, commander-in-chief of the Bolshevik Russian army, have been received by the Germans within the latter's lines and have been informed that the German officials are considering immediate negotiations for an armistice on all fronts of the belligerent countries.

December 2 is the date that has been set for a conference between the Germans and the Bolsheviks at which time the negotiations for an armistice will be made.

60 BELLS RANG FOR U-BOATS

"The next time I take a cargo of locomotives across," said the skipper of a British merchantman in port at Philadelphia, recently, "the bells will all be silenced with wadding."

"On our last trip over we left Philadelphia with sixty locomotives all enclosed in huge wooden boxes, intact and ready to be taken off the ship and placed immediately on the tracks to start dragging ammunition trains to the front. Labor's scarier in France than it is here, and they've no time to put locomotives together over there."

"The Delaware was as smooth as a pond as we made our way down to the bay, but the first waves that struck us at the Capes started something that made me want to take a header off the bridge. Every one of the 60 locomotives bells in the hold began to ring. And they kept ringing all day and all night all the way across the Atlantic."

"At first I thought of going back to dock to have the bells taken off. But that would have amounted virtually to unloading the whole cargo, because of the manner in which the locomotives were stowed. It would have meant a week's delay, and I was supposed to get to sea as quickly as possible. So we put out that night with those sixty mad bells going hammer and tongs continually."

"I thought we would lose our senses. Sleep was out of the question. It was like ringing eight bells eighty times a minute in 60 different keys. You've seen Sir Henry Irving in the play called 'The Bells' Well, it was like that, only this was no play, but real life. It seemed, as one member of the crew who is by far too imaginative said, as if ghosts of all the murdered ships were clanking up at us out of the depths of the ocean, warning us of the U-boats that had littered the sea floors with their bones."

"We fell in with some nasty weather as we neared the other side. The vessel rocked and tossed and every time she plunged a whole catnap of bells went tearing down toward port. We're in the U-boat zone," remarked the man at the wheel, to me one night. "Good! I hope I hope I hope to see them soon. Then perhaps I'll get some sleep."

"The destroyers that met us didn't know what to make of us. They thought we had all gone crazy drunk and were trying to tell the U-boats exactly where we were. But I told them I was cured of the fear of U-boats forever."—Philadelphia Evening Ledger.

WARNED AGAINST SHOOTING PIGEONS

(By Associated Press)

London, Nov. 28.—Field Marshal Lord French, Commander-in-Chief of the Home forces, has issued a circular pointing out the serious results which may follow the shooting of pigeons by careless hunters. He says that two pigeons, carrying messages from sea-planes in distress, were recently shot down, and their messages were therefore several days late in reaching the authorities. This incident and the fact that the shooting of pigeons has already caused the loss of several valuable birds and interfered with the training and use of pigeons for naval and military purposes, has led Lord French to instruct local magistrates to exercise no clemency in further cases of this kind.

SUFFRAGE HOPEFUL IN RUSSIA

(By Associated Press)

London, Nov. 28.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the suffragette leader, who recently returned from Russia, said much that is hopeful in the situation existing when she was there. In an interview on her arrival in London she said:

"The great mass of the Russian people are simple, honest and gentle, with a genuine hatred of Prussian militarism. They only need leading. In some way can be found of throwing off the influences that are preventing the proper organization of the country and the patriotic element gets the upper hand, Russia will cease to play the passive role and become a real power in the war. Everywhere in the turmoil one discerns the hand of the German agent."

"You cannot lose faith in a country that can produce such people," said Mrs. Pankhurst. The first lot of women soldiers who went to the front fought so well and had only six weeks training. There were 2000 recruits for the women's battalions in Moscow when I was there, and 1500 in Petrograd, apart from those at the front."

AT THE PRINCIPAL BOSTON THEATRES

GLOBE THEATRE

Not in years has there appeared in Boston a play which has excited so much general interest as "Her Unborn Child" which on next Monday begins its third week at the Globe Theatre, Boston. It is a play with a serious purpose dealing with a vital question delicately handled. Its author, Howard McKent Barnes, has given his drama a story connected and consistent, and his purpose is a laudable one, which is apparent to all who witness the play.

The people of the drama are of the middle class, characters easily understood by all classes of auditors, and in the hands of the capable company who interpret the roles, the drama gains full force. There are daily matinees given, at which only ladies are admitted because of the address that is given at these performances on Motherhood. Seats are selling in advance and are popularly priced.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE

Music and film programs of distinction are announced for the coming week at the Castle Square Theatre, Boston. The combination of musical artists with carefully selected film features is focusing attention to this theatre's offerings both among people of the theatre and patrons who are discriminating and quick to recognize the merits of the program. For the first half of the week the concert numbers will be offered by Joseph J. Becker Baritone, and Dorothy Fairbanks, soprano, who sing afternoons only, and Francis Storis tenor, and Lora May Lamont, soprano.

The entire program will be changed on Thursday, the same concert artists changing their songs, and on the screen there will be seen the best News pictures, a new Mutt and Jeff cartoon comedy, "Captain Jinks' Alibi," a Frank Daniels comedy, "Roping Her Romeo," a Mack Bennett comedy and the feature photoplay, "The Rise of Jennie Cushing," picturing the beautiful dramatic star, Elsie Ferguson, as a girl who rises from the darker side of the social scale to the heights, sent to a reformatory as a girl, she studies there and acquires the knowledge necessary to meet achievement. Her conquest of conditions in the face of the greatest obstacles is an inspiring story, and furnishes the star with great opportunities to exhibit her unusual artistry.

PARK SQUARE THEATRE

The spiciest, brightest and the merriest comedy of the past season in New York city was Frederick and Panny Hutton's three act comedy drama, "Upstairs and Down," which ran at the Cort theatre in that city the entire theatrical season. Last year this clever play opened its season at the Cort Theatre, Chicago, and is being brought direct to the Park Theatre, Boston, from that highly successful run.

Frederick and Panny Hutton have given their previous such successes as "Years of Discretion," "The Great Lover," etc.

Announcement is made that Selwyn and Company, owners and managers of the Park Square Theatre, who have never sent to this little comedy playhouse a poor show, will hereafter assume the ten per cent war tax required by the United States government. This rule applies to all performances excepting Saturday evenings, and holidays. Selwyn and Company deem it only fair that the public should bear the tax on Saturday evenings and holidays because the ma-

BIG SHOW PATRONS TO SEE

MARGARET ILLINGTON AT THE COLONIAL IN PICTURES

"It's all very strange and it's all very wonderful," exclaimed Margaret Illington, the Lasky-Paramount star who recently forsake the footlights for the screen, and who will star at the Colonial Theatre Friday and Saturday in the Lasky-Paramount production of "The Inner Shrine," Basil King's thrilling story.

"I don't know as yet whether I am going to be as fascinated with the work as nearly everyone else is who has left the stage for the screen, and which I shall eventually prefer. But one thing I do know—I haven't become accustomed to the changed hours and it seems rather hard to get up at six and seven in the morning and then go to bed at nine. Really, when on the stage, your evenings do not begin until midnight, but I suppose I shall become accustomed to it and never want to go back to the theatre again."

"I am glad they selected 'The Inner Shrine' for one of my pictures, because I was familiar with it and while I have some wonderfully dramatic scenes, I don't have to do any 'stunts' as my motion picture friends call falling off from cliffs and getting drowned, and things like that."

"At first it was hard to limit myself to the confines of the camera. I was accustomed to having a whole stage in which to move about, but before the camera, every inch counts, and while it does not affect my work, it was a little strange at first."

"I think motion picture studios are the most wonderful places in the world. It is like the stages of ten or fifteen theatres all set out in the open; all day long you can see that many plays going on at the same time."

"I remember one day when I was doing a particularly emotional scene, and was rather nervous. Mr. Frank Reicher, my director, was getting me settled down to the serious work just as Fannie Ward was being married in an adjacent set. Just as I was going through my most difficult scene, strains of her wedding march would interrupt me."

"I hope people will like me on the screen, and I am looking forward with a great deal of interest to the reports on 'The Inner Shrine.'"

TO PLAY IN ROCHESTER

The Crescent basketball team are to play the Rochester team in that city on Thanksgiving evening. The Crescents will have with Manager O'Brien, Henry Weaver, Mulholland, Mugridge, Horan and Wilson a very strong team.

GERMANS STRIP ANTWERP

(By Associated Press)

London, Nov. 28.—The extent to which the Germans are stripping Antwerp of all articles which may be useful in the prosecution of the war have been obtained through trustworthy sources in Holland by Reuters Agency. Besides commandeering all metal work in the houses of Antwerp, the Germans, it appears, have taken all carpets, rugs, mattresses and all clothing from houses the owners of which have left the country.

Families remaining in Antwerp are said to have been deprived of all but the bare necessities in the way of bedclothes. This is regarded as further indication of the increasing difficulties of the Germans in finding raw material from which to manufacture supplies for the German armies and civilian population.

FOOTBALLS FOR REGIMENTS

(By Associated Press)

Paris, Nov. 27.—All French regiments will have in their official equipment hereafter a football. This announcement, made by the war office, shows the popularity in the French Army of the game of Soccer. While twenty years ago football was hardly known in France, there is hardly a town today which does not possess one or more clayens, and the game is played all over the front.

ARREST STOPPED WIRELESS OPERATION

(By Associated Press)
Buenos Aires, Nov. 27.—The arrest of Count Luxburg, formerly German minister to the Argentine republic, prevented the operation of a gigantic wireless station, which had been erected by a German company on a bluff near Buenos Aires. When Luxburg received his passport the company was installing an apparatus that was expected to put this city into direct radiographic communication with the German station at Nauen, Germany.

The next day the minister of marine closed the wireless station and ordered an officer of the navy to superintend the dismantling of the apparatus.

Although the official excuse given for the closing of the station was that its experiments had not been successful, officers of the ministry of marine have stated that the real reason was to prevent secret communication with Germany during the crisis which followed the expulsion of Luxburg.

SEVEN DAYS TO FILL OUT QUESTIONNAIRES

Additional instructions issued yesterday by Provost Marshal General Crowder and received Tuesday by local and district boards indicate that preparations for the second draft should be completed by Feb. 16. While nothing is definitely said about the date for the next draft, the instructions imply that the preliminary work can and should be done in 60 days' time after the issuance of the questionnaires Dec. 15.

This date is definitely set for mailing the lists of questions, by a paragraph from the instructions which read: "On that date, Dec. 15, unless another date is named by the provost marshal general and communicated to local boards, they shall then, and each of the successive 10 days thereafter, mail questionnaires to one-twentieth or 5 per cent of the registrants, in the order of liability."

"At the same time," the instructions continue, "the notice to registrants and the public" shall be filled in by inserting in the places indicated the earliest and latest order numbers of the registrants to whom questionnaires are being mailed.

"On the seventh day, excluding Sundays and holidays, after the mailing begins, all the questionnaires that were mailed on the first ought to be in, and so on thereafter. Registrants who do not return the questionnaire within the time limits are delinquents and are to be proceeded with accordingly."

Gen. Crowder also recommends strongly that registrants should go to the legal advisory boards before submitting their questionnaires, as in that way they can eliminate many of the delays and complications which will make extra work for the local boards. The boards themselves are urged to practice rigid economy, and if possible after Jan. 15, to maintain only one hired clerk, with a monthly running expense for the office of $100.

"If each of the local boards," Gen. Crowder says, "will obtain one chief clerk at Government expense and obtain other necessary clerical services free, the saving to the Government from Dec. 22 to Jan. 15 will be more than $363,560. After Jan. 15, except in the case of districts which have more than the average number of registrants, only one chief clerk will be necessary."

"Not later than the seventh day of January, and of every month thereafter each board shall submit to the State disbursing officer on form 1031 an estimate of the amount of money necessary to pay all expenses of such board for the month succeeding."

ENGLAND NOW MAKING DYES

(By Associated Press)
London, Nov. 27.—The manufacture of dyes in Great Britain and supplying the British trade which heretofore had been dependent almost entirely on Germany has proved very successful according to the report of a company subsidized by the government for that purpose.

The production of dyes continues to be limited by the shortage of certain materials, but the supply has been increased during the year and the variety of dyes extended. Co-operation among dye manufacturers is urged to increase the output of dyes and the need of further capital is emphasized by the fact that the recently published accounts of five of the German dye manufacturing firms show assets amounting to 35,000,000 pounds, including cash resources of ten millions.

WILL CHARGE FOR TAKING CARE OF GERMANS

Montevideo, Nov. 26.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—In taking over the eight German ships which had taken refuge in Uruguayan harbors, the Uruguayan Government has opened a special account in the Bank of the Republic in which a careful record will be kept of all expenses incurred in repairing the ships and caring for the German crews, these amounts to be added to other charges incurred by the vessels, when they are returned to the German Government, after the war.

The government will make an inventory of everything on board and will provide the crews with means either of returning to their own country, or of living in this country, or of removing to other countries when conditions are opportune. A careful estimate was made of the damages caused intentionally by the former crews.

The President has been authorized to make whatever arrangements are necessary to insure the quickest possible preparation for sea. Upon the termination of the war, a final liquidation is to be made and the value of the vessels to be settled by arbitrators.

The management of these German ships will be put into the hands of a national shipping company which will use them in the transport of Uruguayan products to overseas ports and in the importation of goods needed in this country. This company is to be managed by the Administrative Council of the Port of Montevideo.

The law which provided for the requisition of these ships also prohibited the sale of any ship of more than 200 tons not registered now flying the Uruguayan flag.

FEDERAL AUTHORITIES WILL ACT

(By Associated Press)
Boston, Nov. 27.—John Johnson, the negro, who Governor McCall refused to surrender to the West Virginia authorities on requisition papers, today gave himself up to the Federal authorities to answer to a warrant charging him with being a fugitive from justice and he was held for a hearing on December 5th.

Governor McCall this evening gave out a letter to West Virginia in which he defended the report of District Attorney Nelson P. Brown who investigated the case for the government. He also stated that there was no feeling in the matter between the states and called attention to the fact that not honoring a requisition from another state was not a new thing, or was it an insult to the other state.

OPPOSES FOREIGN MEDALS

Washington, Nov. 27.—Decorations of any officer or man of the American Navy by foreign Governments for war services will be opposed by Secretary Daniels. He declared today that if asked for an opinion he would advise a strict adherence to the provisions of the constitution which prohibits it.

POWER

To get out of your motor all the power that was built into it requires a gasoline that is not only pure but uniform.

It is because every gallon of SOCONY Motor Gasoline is like every other gallon, no matter where you buy it, that SOCONY runs a motor so much more efficiently than the best of unidentified gasolines. A carburetor once adjusted to SOCONY is adjusted for keeps.

You will find that SOCONY gives more miles to the gallon and more power to the mile. Say So-CONY and look for the Red, White and Blue sign.

SWITZERLAND WILL SAFEGUARD ITS MEAGRE COAL SUPPLY

(By Associated Press)
Bern, Nov. 27.—Switzerland has at last attacked the problem of economizing its meagre coal supply. It has begun none too soon and apparently none too strenuously, for Germany's initial delivery for September under the new economic agreement has fallen far short of the promised minimum of 200,000 tons. It is sent satisfaction for Switzerland that its loan to Germany is required accordingly.

In anticipation with having to go along with 200,000 tons or less of coal a month—the Swiss government has cut to the bone the railroad traffic, raised rates and made it so difficult and so expensive to travel that only necessity is apt to induce a Swiss to move from one part of his tiny country to the other. The company has also issued drastic regulations governing heating.

The sale of certain types of electric stoves are forbidden, while electricians were forbidden to install new switches and lines such as would be necessary for the use of stoves. Hotels may heat only one quarter of their rooms and must close their cafes and restaurants at 11, instead of 1 o'clock. The hours of opening stores are reduced.

The movies, cabarets and variety theatres must close at least 12 days out of each month. The temperature of theatres or hotels must not exceed a certain degree. Restaurants and cafes have to chop off the best two hours of their business by early closing and are forbidden to serve warm meals before nine in the morning.

If coal were Switzerland's only shortage, she would face the winter with a safe degree of safety. But she is running short of food all along the line. Of flour and breadstuffs she has just enough on the 260 grams a day per person basis now in force, to last until late in the winter. Unless America permits the export of wheat in some measure Switzerland will soon have to drop to 100 grams a day.

The economic department of the government has just issued a circular calling attention to the fact that in addition to a shortage of coal and wheat, there is still all too little cooking fat and oil on hand. In some districts they have disappeared altogether. Foreign potatoes are to be had only in Bern and Basel, and even wood is scarcer than it has ever been. So Switzerland is frantically its economic suits as rapidly and as drastically as it may. It isn't the easiest task in the world and is the harder because there is political opposition to every move made by the government. President Shultess had one of the full days of his political career recently when he tried to explain to refractory deputies in parliament why it was impossible to lower prices when foodstuffs and kindred things continued to become scarcer and scarcer.

BACK FROM PLATTSBURG

Boston, Nov. 27.—The newly commissioned New England men, who have been in training at Plattsburg since the middle of August, arrived at the North Station early this morning on two special trains, the first pulling in about 2 a. m., more than three hours overdue on account of the cold and the heavy load, the other arriving an hour behind schedule, at 7:45 a. m.

Regular trains from Plattsburg also brought smaller bands of the young officers this forenoon, the earliest bringing nearly 100 at 9 a. m. Red-checked and rugged-looking, buttoned to the chin and carrying guns and suitcases they made a particularly husky and fit appearance as they filed down the track of the railroad.

Groups of relatives and friends were on hand despite the cold many of them waiting for hours to greet the returning Plattsburgers. When the second

WAR ZONE ABOUT DOCKS

(By Associated Press)
New York, Nov. 27.—Notices were posted today on all streets leading to docks and piers in New York warning citizens not to pass within the barred zone on and after Thursday, under penalty of immediate arrest. The notices also call on all "good citizens" to notify the United States marshal of violations of the rule.

The orders will not affect persons who wish to use the ferries. Alien enemies may use the street directly approaching the ferry house or may go on "direct" trolley car lines, but they will not be permitted to use street car lines running north and south through the barred area.

Within the next few days it is expected that Brig. Gen. Hoyle, command in the Department of the East, will issue orders to post military sentries along those parts of the water front from which supplies and troops are sent abroad.

Portsmouth, N. H., Wednesday, November 28, 1917.

For This We Are Thankful.

Not only that our crops are in, and that we are ready to feed the world, are we thankful this year. But the war has brought us blessings. It took us a long time to pierce their disguises, but now we know many of them for what they are.

And the one big thing which stands above all others for which we lift our heads in gratitude this day is that we have learned to work together.

Teamwork. Co-operation. That's what we are getting out of the welter of the war.

We are learning that if all the women of the land work together for conservation in the home, conservation will be accomplished. If all the ship-builders work together, all the different kinds of them pulling ahead instead of against each other, we will have ships.

If all the Democrats and Republicans and Socialists and Prohibitionists and the rest will pull together we will have true democracy and a well governed republic and co-operation and temperance, and all the other fine things which once seemed airy visions and are now assuming solid reality.

We know that competition is wasteful—that if we all pool our interests there is work enough, service enough, reward enough for all.

We are taking primer lessons in this great truth as yet, but we have made the start and we are on our way.

If in the coming time we can hold before our eyes constantly this ideal of teamwork, next year we shall have wonderful cause indeed for thanksgiving celebration.

And perhaps, before many more thanksgivings have passed over our heads we shall see that teamwork is only the body. Its spirit is brotherly love.

Many car loads of potatoes and other vegetables are standing on sidetracks at Cleveland, O., and the railroad officials claim they do not know to whom the property belongs. Here would appear to be a good opening for a little commandeering. A step in that direction would probably bring the owners to light in a hurry.

The farmers of the state are to have a chance to stock up with Texas steers, several car loads of young animals having arrived to be sold at cost. Will New Hampshire boys have to learn to throw the lariat, or will this young Texas stock be "civilized" by the time it grows up in this orderly New England atmosphere?

A Chicago grain company declares that 100,000,000 bushels of potatoes will be fed to livestock or rot unless the price is dropped to 50 cents a bushel. But who under present conditions is going to drop the price to 50 cents a bushel? This is a good time to avoid hysteria.

It was a pretty bold proposition to ask the government to exempt professional baseball players from army service, in view of the fact that the president decided long ago to exempt no class as a class. The athletes of the diamond should certainly be ready to do their bit.

The poultry show season is again at hand and in numerous places the annual exhibits of the feathered tribes are in progress, but just now the public is not so much interested in fine points as it is in prices. Under present conditions meat counts for more than feathers.

The dispatches tell us one day that the submarine menace has been overcome, and the next that the U-boats will soon be doing business along the Atlantic coast. The wires from the undersea zone appear to be crossed.

The government learns that many dealers in food stuffs are advancing prices far more than the amount of the war tax. It is now up to the government to demonstrate that this scheme will no work, and it cannot do this too soon.

Out of the multitude of candidates the school board should be able to make a wise choice for the important position of school superintendent.

There is no lustier shout for war than ex-President William Howard Taft, now president of the League to Enforce Peace.

The governor of Nebraska has resigned to take a commission as colonel of a regiment. There's patriotism for you.

PROFESSOR HULL DIES SUDDENLY

(By Associated Press)

London, Nov. 28.—The death is announced here of Professor Edward Hull, the foremost geologist in the British Isles. He was born in Ireland in 1839. In 1880 he was the leader of a scientific expedition to Arabia and Palestine, and his chief assistant was Lord Kitchener, then a captain. Prof. Hull has recently devoted his time to the work of the war coal commission. His last discovery was in connection with the bed of the Atlantic, by which he discovered that the "continental platform" on which Western Europe and the British Isles are planted is eroded by old river valleys continuous with those of the Loire, Douro and Tagus, and descending to a depth of several thousand feet below the present surface.

FROM YEAR TO YEAR

(By Robert F. Holbrook)

Last year found our nation at peace, this year at Thanksgiving finds us in the grip of the horrors of war.

Last year, found our boys at home, this year finds them training in army camps, while some of them are across the water, watching, waiting, hoping for an enemy attack in order that they may avenge democracy, the cause for which we all should be depending.

Tomorrow at the dinner table there will be many vacant chairs, many a heart ache and many a mother will have her stolen cry and will offer her prayer some time during the day, for this day above all others seems to be the time when all should be gathered to offer up Thanksgiving.

True American patriotism runs high in the veins of these women, with a choking sob in their throat, but with a smile on their face, they sent these boys off to live on blood-stained battlefields and to face the vandalism and horrors of atrocities.

The outbreak of the war in April, 1917, caught this nation by surprise; the nations of Europe had at least some warning of the coming storm, but to the American home-loving, country-loving and freedom-loving nation, such a blind, savage onslaught on the ideals of civilization appeared impossible to us.

American neutrality in the first few months of uncertainty was believed unbearable, but today finds the United States on the threshold, on the scales of war and peace, with the war side lowering.

After the acts and breaks of international laws that came thick and fast, it would have been a crime against our ancestors who gave their lives that we might be free, to observe further neutrality. The world must be safe for democracy.

And so, on the memorable day of April 2, 1917, President Wilson read to congress his message, to the nation declaring a state of war.

So tomorrow, when these mothers are offering their prayer, let us all join with them in asking deliverance from bloodshed and the horrors of war and ask that a year from this Thanksgiving, if not sooner, that our fighting boys be restored to their homes, mothers, wives and sweethearts and that this peace-loving nation be again free from the shadows of war.

SOUVENIR HUNTERS AMONG THE MEN AT THE FRONT

(By Associated Press)

Behind the British lines in France, Nov. 27.—In every battalion at the front there are a number of confirmed souvenir hunters and at times their influence is so potent that an epidemic craze for collecting spreads through all ranks, and the main topic of conversation is souvenirs in all their varieties.

In every walk of trench life one meets the man with strong acquisitive habits; in civilian life he might develop his bent into either finance, art, stamp collecting or possibly burglary. In the trenches the fully developed passion for collecting souvenirs of any kind sooner or later demands a place to put it on and there is no place in knapsack and dugout life for a store of gathered treasures.

The available war souvenirs are seldom of much value, but there is a considerable variety of things to choose from in most battle areas. In the early days of the war the German helmets were valued souvenirs, for the old style German helmet was substantial and picturesque, brilliant and with heavy metal garlands. There were also unusual variations, like the quaint Bavarian shako, while one or two cavalry regiments provided a rare variety of headgear which has not been seen on the western front since the first year of the war.

The German helmet of today has depreciated even more than the German mark. It is no longer even leather, but a kind of light paper felt. The metal spike has given place to one of wood or composition. The solid brass regimental badge is now a thin brass plate. The true collector craves very little for the modern helmet and has no interest at all in the little round velvet cap which so many of the German prisoners wear. If the German only knew it, a sure passport to warm an instant favor on surrender is a decent helmet. It attracts immediate attention and the fortune.

The French soldiers have made a specialty of aluminum rings and jewelry made from the nosepieces of hostile shell and quite an ambitious industry has been developed in this way. The British prefer to work in brass, usually the brass of empty cartridge shells, and shell cases.

With infinite patience and few tools they produce what the Frenchman calls "peculiar objects of the munitionerie." Little model coal scuttles with legs made of bullets, a tiny coal shovel worked up from a German rifle cartridge; vases of curious surface mottlings made by indenting the brass of a field gun case; ambitious designs of allied flags and well known heroes, made from ration cases or brass—these are only a few of the things which the collector is offered by his comrades.

JUDGE ALLEN DID LOTS OF WORK IN SUPERIOR COURT

Made Favorable Impression
Here and Gives Docket a Good Clearing.

The October docket of the superior court was cleaned up in good style today by Judge John E. Allen, who has presided during the term. Judge Allen on his first appearance here, made a very favorable impression with the attorneys, court officers and the public for his very impartial manner in handling the work of the session. He lost no time whatever on the several cases disposed of and is credited with giving the docket one of the most thorough cleanings in many years. He injected much activity into the attorneys from all parts of the county and it is safe to say that the session was one of accomplishment.

WILL NOT MAKE DRIVE NOW

The Knights of Columbus will not make their drive here for their quota of the war fund to carry on the work of the Knights in the various camps and across the water.

The officers consider that this is an inopportune time, following as it does the drive for the Red Triangle and while the object of the work is the same, they do not want to start after funds at this time.

In other parts of the state the work has been started this week and with very good results. This Council just summer raised over $1000 in a tag day and this sum was devoted to the national fund. Later they will start after more funds.

CAN SHIP RED CROSS CHRISTMAS PACKAGES UP TO DEC. 15

New York, Nov. 28.—In order to enable Red Cross chapters to complete their shipments of Christmas packages for American soldiers and sailors in this country, the date for shipment of the gifts to the camps has been postponed to Dec. 15. It was announced last night, Dec. 1, that it was fixed as the limit on the packing of Red Cross gifts, but so many chapters are behind in their work through lack of funds, it was stated, that it was decided to have the packing continue until as late a date as possible. National headquarters decreed that no part of the Red Cross fund could be used for Christmas packages, it was announced.

NOVEL METHOD OF BOOSTING FUND

(By Associated Press)
 London, Nov. 28.—A farmer in a village in southeast England raised $1,000 for the Red Cross through the agency of a Zeppelin bomb which fell in one of his fields. Thousands of people came from nearby towns to see the crater, which is described as "big enough to put a house in." The farmer charged each visitor a small admission fee, and turned the proceeds over to the local Red Cross.

GERMANY WILL SEND PRISONERS

London, Nov. 28.—In a parliamentary reply, the foreign office announces that the German government has assented to the use of Boston, Linnishire, as an embarkation point for the transfer to Holland of prisoners of war for internment. The Anglo-German agreement regarding prisoners of war was drawn up at the Hague in July but its operation was delayed by Germany's refusal to use a port on the Thames or Hull and standing out for Southwold. As soon as the question of charter of the necessary vessels is completed the exchange of prisoners will begin.

NO KNOWLEDGE OF REAL WAR

(By Associated Press)
 Rotterdam, Netherlands, Nov. 28.—Insofar as Germany is concerned, the German government evidently means to do away with the anomaly that the majority of members of belligerent parliaments have no first hand knowledge of what real war is. It is sending the members of the Reichstag on visits to the fronts in parties of eight. Within three months it is expected that every member will have been given the opportunity of making such a trip.

THANKSGIVING AT THE COLONIAL

A mighty fine bill has been prepared for the patrons of this popular place, if possible even better than the first half of the week. The show includes three brand new vaudeville acts and eight reels of splendid pictures.

Whitney's Dolls are the big number, though every act is a big one. The Whitney Doll offering is a novelty of the laugh-getting sort, a miniature stage with human heads on comely figures cutting up all sorts of comedy dancing and stunts and introducing some new comedy song parodies that will be sure to make a hit with the holiday crowds.

Whit and Winter are a big time athletic feature known as the Muscular Marvels; that they are a sensational pair goes without saying as there is no call for the ordinary in the vaudeville world for this class of act unless they are something away from the average and these boys are.

The Cooney Sisters, clever and pleasing, a duo of girls with personality and ability, a singing offering that is certain to be one of the big favorites of the season. To hear and to see them is the only way to understand what they are.

Pictures as mentioned in the regular advertisement tell the story.

CHRIST CHURCH.

Services on Thanksgiving Day will be held at 7:30 and 10:30 a. m. At the 7:30 a. m. Holy Eucharist, the Chapters, Junior and Senior, of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew will make their annual corporate communion. Breakfast will be served to the men and boys after the service in the parish house.

At the 10:30 a. m. Parish Eucharist the rector will preach a special Thanksgiving sermon on "The duty of Americans to give thanks to God, in this year of 1917." The Church's War Commission calls upon us to give expression of our gratitude in public worship for the splendid contribution our country has made and is making in men and money in the cause of world-freedom; for a purer patriotism and larger sympathy.

People are cordially invited to attend the services at 10:30 o'clock on Thanksgiving Day, which will be the Divine Service of Thanksgiving with patriotic and national intention.

The following program of music will be rendered by the full vested choir: Processional—Come, ye thankful people, come, raise the song of harvest-home! No. 133 (Elvey).

Introit—Ps 23. The Lord is My Shepherd. (Plain Song).

Post Communion—The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof; the World, and they that dwell therein. (Lob). The Star Spangled Banner. (Arnold.)

AMERICAN ON STEAMER SUNK OFF SPAIN

(By Associated Press)

London, Nov. 27.—Fifty-eight men including 25 Americans and 5 naturalized citizens, were on the steamer Aetna which was sunk by a German U-boat. One boat load of survivors came ashore on the Spanish coast and there is still a boat load missing.

CHILE WILL USE INTERNED SHIPS

Santiago, Chile, Nov. 25.—It is announced that Germany has consented to this country using the interned German steamers under certain conditions which are not made public.

As Chile proposes to rent the steamers, and as such an operation would be to German advantage, it remains to be seen if the Entente Allies will concede to such vessels immunity from seizure. A request to this effect was refused by them many months ago.

PROTESTING CRUELITIES

Corfu, Nov. 26.—A protest against Bulgarian cruelties toward the Serbs was voted in the Austro-Hungarian Chamber of Deputies a few days ago.

by M. Zoltan Varian, a member of the Chamber, according to Magyar newspapers which have been received here. M. Varian cited examples with which he said he became personally acquainted while commanding an Austrian detachment at Maydanpek.

"The Bulgarians," he said, "killed and tortured the relatives of the Serbs who had revolted. The population of the villages inhabited by relatives of the revolted were deported to Asia Minor and the Dobruja. Negotiations opened in regard to this matter between the German, Austro-Hungarian and Bulgarian Governments completely failed, the Bulgarians contending that a settlement of the question was not particularly urgent or necessary."

The deputy in conclusion said the Hungarian Government should take the whole matter in hand with a view to ameliorating the very terrible conditions under which the Serbian population was living.

(By Associated Press)

Baltimore, Nov. 27.—Congressman James H. Mann, republican floor leader today entered the John Hopkins Hospital as a patient. It is understood that he is to have a complete physical examination as he has been ill of late. This evening the hospital authorities reported him as "resting comfortably."

ELIOT

Eliot, Nov. 27.—One of the most enjoyable affairs of the season occurred last Friday evening at Grange hall, when a number of its members assisted by pupils of the various schools in town gave a patriotic entertainment. The program was in charge of Miss Myrtle Ham, assisted by Mrs. Charles Foye, Mrs. Fred Wilson and Mrs. Howard Libby. The program:

Cornet solo—Bugle Calls..... Miss Augusta Livermore
Reading..... Miss Helen Smith
Flag Drill—By 12 girls, Mrs. Foye, director.

The Partisans..... Gertrude Livermore, Charles Foye
Soldier Boy in Blue..... Elmer Tucker
Soldier Boy in Gray..... Chester Spinney

Minute Man..... Henry Livermore
Johnny Bull..... George O. Twombly
Gen. George Washington and wife..... Charles Drake, Mrs. Charles Gale
Boy Scout..... Harold Fernald
Appropriate vocal selections by Mrs. Kate Ives accompanied the presentation of each picture.

A pleasing feature of the evening was the gift of a service flag to the Grange, Mr. Crum, of Boston, a former Eliot boy, being the donor. Charles Drake presented the flag to Wallace E. Dixon, master of John P. Hill Grange, and by a singular coincidence, their sons, Fabian Drake and Harry Dixon, were the only ones entitled to the stars thereon.

The flag drill was executed in a fine manner and showed much preliminary work had been done.

At the conclusion of the program games were indulged in and a social hour passed. A portion of the proceeds will be given to the Red Cross society. Early in December a ladies' minstrel show will be given under the auspices of the Grange and we bespeak a large attendance for it.

Rev. Isaac Terry of Kennebunk has been in town several days recently.

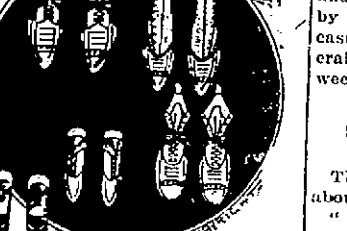

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Winn welcomed a daughter to their home last week.

James A. Coleman was a visitor in Dover Sunday.

During the winter the mid-week prayer meetings of the Advent society will be held at the homes of the members instead of the church.

Mrs. W. Linwood Fernald, president of the W. C. T. U., has with the assistance of her daughter and one or two friends, knit an afghan which is quite unique. It is composed of 35 squares. One square contained the United States flag, another took the form of the French flag, and some were "bit and miss," some in stripes, etc. It has been sent to a hospital in France, where Raymond Chick, a Kittery boy, is serving as nurse.

Mrs. Billings of North Berwick visited her daughter, Miss Helen Billings who teaches school in District No. 7 on Wednesday.

UNITED STATES IN ALLIES CONFERENCE

(By Associated Press)

Representatives of the allied nations at war with the Teutonic powers are gathering at Paris for the international conference on the war.

American, British and Italian representatives are already here, the Americans led by Col. E. M. House, the British by Premier David Lloyd George and the Italians by Premier Victorio Orlando.

In addition to the examination into the grounds for a strong allied offense against the Germans, the conferees will consider the situation in Russia, where the Bolsheviks are in control and where it is reported German staff officers are acting as military advisors to the Lenin government. Possibly the attitude of the Russians may not be as an ally of the Entente Powers, for the situation in Russia with the Bolsheviks places them with the Germans.

Inside Russia the situation seems to be getting worse rather than better, and the country is not far from civil war with the famine and unrest that is rampant there since the Bolsheviks took command. Unofficial reports are that the North Russian army are with out food and are in a bad way.

Around the village of Bourlon and the Bourlon woods and about Fontaine Notre Dame in the region of Cambrai the British are keeping after the Germans on both sectors and the force of Gen. Byng especially in Fontaine, where they were edicted by the Germans have now remained a foot hold and are forcing the Germans out.

A heavy concentration of machine guns in the Follies wood did not stop the British advance.

Possibly in a supreme effort to break through the Italian lines before the reinforcements of the British and French reached the line, the Germans threw a whole division against the line on the Brenta valley and they were repulsed by the fighting Italians like all of the smaller, but similar efforts they have made in the past week. The Italian artillery inflicted cruel punishments on the Teutons whose casualties were heavy. Four attacks against the Brenta and Piave river also were put down with heavy losses for the Germans.

Notwithstanding the heavy fighting and the great advance made last week by the British at Cambrai, the British casualties for the past week were several thousand less than the previous week, the official figures being 30,314.

EDDIE BACK IN THE GAME

The Navy Log has the following about Edward C. Ewen of this city: "Eddie" hails from Portsmouth, N. H., where he played backfield positions both at Portsmouth High school and Tilton academy. Last fall Ewen played in two games, but he was so seriously injured that he was confined to the naval hospital for three months and was forced to lose a year's standing. Few expected to see him on the field this year but he returned and conquered. This year he has played an exceptionally good game at right end, not only in defense but also in covering punts and receiving passes from Big Bill. Ewen is 20 years and 6 months, 160, and 5 feet 7 1/2 inches of a real aggressive end."

Mail orderlies from the navy yard, that pass The Herald office look like Santa Claus. Evidently the mailers are sending lots of good things to their boys in the service.

AYER IS THREATENED BY FIRE

(By Associated Press)

Ayer, Mass., Nov. 27.—The business section of this town was threatened with destruction by fire this evening and five people were injured. The fire department from the army cantonment a half a mile away, responded and did excellent service. The wooden buildings of Edward Breen of Fitchburg were destroyed at a loss of $25,000. James Marshland, the proprietor of the restaurant, George Drake the chef, Alice Norris, Grace Folsom and Bessie Noyes who were caught on the second floor, leaped from the windows and were more or less injured.

Charlotte, N. C., Nov. 27.—It became known today that members of the two Massachusetts and Connecticut negro companies, which reached Camp Green last week, have been forbidden to visit the city of Charlotte.

This became known when the provost marshal advised the chief of police of the fact, telling him that the negro soldiers had been ordered not to go to Charlotte except on official business.

He said that the military police had been instructed to arrest all negro soldiers seen in the city unless they are able to show passes indicating that they are on official business.

Camp Headquarters, when asked if such an order had been issued, would not discuss the report.

Two negro soldiers who were in the city last night were arrested and the police say that bayonets were found concealed under their coats.

The order denying the negroes the privilege of visiting the city has caused considerable surprise. It is looked upon as being wholly precautionary, as there has been no sign of trouble.

Members of the New England regiments began actual training today, after devoting their first week here principally to getting comfortably established in their new quarters. Because Thursday's holiday breaks into a full week's schedule, the work this week will not be very heavy.

NEW SCHOONER SUNK BY U-BOAT

(By Associated Press)

Baltimore, Nov. 27.—Word was received here today of the sinking by a German U-boat of the American schooner Margaret Roberts, captain William Roberts. The schooner was bound to the Canary Islands with a cargo of grain and the captain and crew reached the Canary Islands. She was built last year in a Maine ship yard.

The Boston Transcript on Tuesday evening printed a large cut of one of Edmund C. Tarbell's latest portraits and with the following comment:

Edmund C. Tarbell has just completed the portrait of Dr. Marion LeRoy Burton, president of the University of Minnesota, formerly president of Smith College, which is to be presented to Smith College by the class of 1917. The canvas, which is a large one depicting the latter life-size, is now in Mr. Tarbell's Boston studio, 201 Fenway Studios, but the artist is in Washington this winter, where he is busy with one or two important portrait commissions, which will keep him there for some months. The portrait of Dr. Burton is the most impressive example of its class in the oeuvre of Mr. Tarbell to date, being especially notable for its originality of composition. It is also very handsome in color, and therefore possesses a decorative character which is not always to be seen in portraits of men.

Dr. Burton is shown seated in an armchair upholstered in a handsome shade of pale blue stuff, in front of a long library table. In one hand he holds an open book, but he has turned his head away from it, and looks toward the front, as if he had momentarily left his reading to ask or to answer a question. His unemployed hand hangs easily from the arm of the chair. He is wearing the academic gown of black silk with a dark purple velvet collar, the folds of which are so arranged as to give an impression of casual rather than formal drapery. His strong and vigorous personality is well delineated in the pose of his head and in his entire bearing. His crisp, wavy and thick auburn hair is relieved against a handsome gray background, and his wholesome, rather florid countenance is very well painted to render Santa Claus. Evidently the mailers are sending lots of good things to their boys in the service.

On the table, just back of the figure, is a quaint and rare Chinese statuette carved in a yellowish stone material, with full draperies, and a few sheets of paper; while at the other end of the table, back of the sitter, is a glimpse of a beautiful old Chinese bowl, supported by a carved stand in vermilion lacquer, which gives a fine touch of warm color. The gray wall, on one end of which we see a part of a copy of a rich Venetian painting, with several figures of a Titianesque cast, is of the lovely atmospheric quality with which one is familiar in the interiors which have made Tarbell famous. The portrait is thus a most interesting decorative composition, and makes a choice effect by virtue of its balance and rhythm, apart from its sterling merits as a likeness and a study of individual character.

CITY COMMITTEE SELECT FEW OF THE CANDIDATES

Want Raynes to Reconsider; Dr. Cronin for the School Board.

The Democratic city committee met again on Tuesday night. Dr. Harry Cronin was named as a candidate for the school board. He formerly served in the city council from ward three. Councilman Raynes declined to be a candidate for the third term. A committee was appointed to wait on him and request that he remain and go on the party ticket. The committee was notified that Councilmen Gray and Kirkpatrick were in the field at large and both were endorsed. The ward three delegation notified the committee that they had a man for the council from that ward to succeed John J. Sullivan, but he was not named at the meeting.

Frank Cox was endorsed as a council candidate from ward five, and Edward A. Weeks from ward one. The committee find it hard picking for a ward council candidate from ward two. No candidate from ward four will be selected until next Tuesday night when the committee meet with the several candidates or conference.

A committee of two was appointed to fill any vacancies which may occur in the ticket.

THE HERALD HEARS

That the city of Portsmouth should conduct a junk sale.

That there is plenty of scrap material in the city yard for such a sale.

That with the present price paid for scrap some money could be added to the treasury.

That such a sale would go quite a way toward cleaning up the property of old iron, etc.

That a Daniel street resident says the high cost of living certainly hit him an awful blow when he pays for the same chicken the second time.

That he purchased a pair of birds on Saturday for a Sunday dinner.

That he decided to hang the pair out a back window to keep them cool until Sunday.

That after dreaming all night of the big cats for Sunday, the wingless birds flew.

That they were removed with the aid of a ladder.

That he made another purchase of broilers and tossed up the same money for the same pair.

That he will go miles for a chicken, but no more open air refrigeration for him.

That the Boston and Maine has annulled several freight trains of the Portland division for Thanksgiving day.

That many a man who says he is patriotic enough to shed his last drop of blood for his country is taking good care that he doesn't shed the first one.

That the man in the orchestra chair of a theatre gets no better show for his money than the kid with a ten cent seat in the gallery.

That two dogs and fifty kids had plenty of excitement on Vaughan street this morning.

That one of the dogs with a myx-zo clamped tight on his jaws, and held by a rope in the hands of a boy, attempted to bite a few chunks out of the hide of another canine.

That the muzzled Barker was out of luck but game to the finish.

That the other canine did all the chewing and his muzzled dogship all the growling and snarling.

That it was a picnic for the kids and nearly ended with a big row between the owners of the canines.

That a well known west on business man is going to conduct a pig farm.

That he has purchased the Hett property on the Bonfield road to raise the porters.

That he is certainly making a move in the right direction.

That candidates for the municipal election in the ranks of both parties are coming slow.

A Boston paper states that over a hundred women are to be placed at work in the Charlestown navy yard, and say that is the only yard hiring women. They don't know evidently, that female help is now installed at the local yard.

It seems that either the Ayer cantonment or the town are doomed by fire. Yesterday the entire business section of the town was threatened for some time. It is the third fire since the new cantonment has been located there.
